For The Republican.

Lines written on reading a Southern editor's account of his interview with THADDEUS STEVENS, in the Press of June 24th, 1867.

BY JAMES AIKEN.

Take the Southerner's report,
Written by no friendly pen;
Yet, how calm, majestic seems
The old lion in his den!

"You would wage a bloody war;
And we met you, force to feroe.
Let the law you then invoked,
Fully, freely, take its course!

"Preach 'the Constitution' now!
Truly, you can change with ease!
Sue us in the court of Mars—
End the suit in Common Pleas!

"That's a dodge I never learnt,
Though I am a lawyer old.
The laws of war and laws of peace
"Are slightly different—I've been told!

"When you try that game again,
If you doubt who gains the day,
First, your counsel you'll retain
Then with cannon bang away!

"If you conquer in the field,
You will make the terms we know.
If you're thrash'd, as you deserve,
To the civil courts you'll go!

"Well, perhaps your view is right,
And the Nation is a goose;
So that you forever can Safely play us 'fast and loose'!

"But for one, I plainly say,
All the power that I can wield
'Gainst foul traitors, such as you
Shall my bleeding country shield!

* * * * * * *

Take the Southernor's report
Written by no friendly pen;
Yet, how calm—majestic seems
The old lion in his den!

In the right, almost alone,
How by knaves and fools decried!
Yet how fell the Nation's tears,
When the mighty hero died!

Select Miscellany.

From the Philadelphia Ledger.]

"Wanted---A Clerk."

A few days ago, a gentleman advertised in this paper for a clerk, and requested applicants to address their notes to him at the Ledger office. By the close of the first day on which the advertisement appeared, there were four hundred and eighteen applicants for the one clerkship. This afforded a most forcible illustration of the extent to which the occupation of Clerking and bookkeeping is overstocked in this city. But a few months previous, the head of a business establishment, who wished some help in the way of writing, but in which some literary ability was required, advertised for an assistant, at a moderate salary, and having incidentally mentioned that the position might suit a lawyer or physician not in good practice, got more than a hundred applications, of which fifty three were from young lawyers and doctors. Here was an illustration of an over supply of the professional or "genteel occupations" Another advertiser in the Ledger, who wanted a person to take charge of the editorial work of a weekly paper, got fifty-seven applications, not more than half a dozen of the applicants being recognized newspaper writers; but nearly all of them being clerks, bookkeepers and professional men. Still another advertised for two apprentices in a wheelwright and smith-shop, in one of the semi-rural wards of the city, requiring applicants to give their address and age. He got three applications, but in every case the applicant was too old, two of them being over eighteen and one nearly twenty. Still another advertised for an office boy, about fourteen years old, and had so many applicants that his place was crowded for more than five hours, and the applicants were of all ages, from mere children not more than twelve years old to full grown men of twenty-one.

These are not very cheerful or encouraging signs. They are such, however, as every man and woman in Philadelphia should give attention to. The present generation of young men seem to have a strong aversion to every kind of trade, business, calling or occupation that requires manual labor, and equally strong tendency towards some so-called "genteel" employment or profession. The result is seen in such lamentable facts as those above stated—a superabundance of elegant penmen, book-keepers and clerks of every kind who can get no employment, and are wasting their lives in the vain pursuit of what is not to be had; and a terrible overstock of lawyers without practice and doctors without patients. The passion on the part of boys and young men to be clerks, office attendants, messengers, anything, so that it is not work of the kind that will make them mechanics or tradesmen, is a deplorable sight to those who have full opportunities to see the distressing effects of it in the struggle for such employments by those unfortunates who have put it out of their power to do anything else by neglecting to learn some permanent trade or business in which trained skill can always be turned to account. The applications for clerkships and similar positions in large establishments are numerous beyond anything that would be thought of those who have no chance to witness it. Parents and relatives, as well as the boys and young men themselves, seem to be afflicted with the same infatuation. To all such we say, that the most unwise advice you can give to your boy is to encourage him to be a clerk or a book keeper. At the best, it is not a well paid occupation. Very frequently it is among the very poorest.—This is the case when the clerk is fortunate enough to be employed; but if he should happen to be out of place, then comes the weary search, the fearful struggle with the thousands of others looking for places, the neverending disappointments, the hope deferred that make the heart sick, the strife with poverty, the humiliations that take all the manhood out of the poor souls, the privations and sufferings of those who depend upon his earnings, and who have no resource when he is earning nothing. No father, no mother, no relative should wish to see their boys or kindred wasting their young lives in striving after the genteel positions that bring such trials and privations upon them in after life.

How do these deplorably false notions as to choice of occupation get into the heads of boys? Why do they or their parents consider it more "genteel" or desirable to run errands, sweep offices, make fires, copy letters, &c., than to make hats or shoes, or lay bricks, or wield the saw or jack plane, or handle the machinist's file, or the blacksmith's hammer? We have heard that some of them get these notions at school. If this be true, it is a sad perversion of the means of education provided for our youth, which are intended to make them useful as well as intelligent members of society, and not useless drags and drones. Should it be so, that the present generation of boys get it into their heads that, because they have more school learning and book accomplishment than their fathers had, they must, therefore, look down upon trades that require skill and handicraft, and whose productions make up the vast mass of wealth of every country, then it is time for the Controllers and the Directors to have the interior walls of our school houses covered with maxims and mottoes warning them against the fatal error.

A Warning to Drinkers.

Jinks drank too much, as all his friends knew, but like many another good fellow who drinks, it was hard to convince Jinks that he ought to let up on it He boarded at one of the hotels, and night after night he would remain until past midnight at the saloon bar, "histing" it in, rendering it necessary morning after morning to have a cocktail brought up from the saloon before he could get out of bed, and then another to brace him up for breakfast.

Finally the bar attendant who brought up the drinks, remonstrated with him telling him that if he continued his course much longer he would have the "Jim-Jims."

"The what?" asked Jinks not exactly comprehending.

"The man with the poker—get snakes after you—see things—have the tremens."

"Oh nonsense," said Jinks, "you cannot scare me. I have drank just so for fifteen years. It never hurt me. A cocktail or two in the morning and I'm all right, always.

The man had more sympathy for a man on the downward road of intemperance than most bar men have, and he determined to give Jinks a fright. Accordingly, the next morning, when the well known ring from Jink's room was heard, the bar-tender prepared a very enticing gin cocktail, and placing it on a waiter, surrounded it with sundry toads, lizards, small snakes, &c. This he conveyed to Jink's room, where that individual, who had loaded himself with "benzine" the night before rather more heavily than usual, nervously awaited it.

"Morning," said Jinks, stretching out a hand that trembled some, "glad to see you—devilish dry this morning—whats them?" (starting back in horror.)

"Why, what do you mean?" said the man in innocent wonder.

"Why the toads, snakes, and things around the tumbler?" said Jinks, shrinking to the back of the bed and viewing the loathsome reptiles with aversion and dismay.

"Why, Jinks, my man, there is nothing around the tumbler—nothing on the waiter except the cocktail."

"I tell you there are. I see snakes, toads and lizards there."

"Ah, Jinks, (with a sigh) I was afraid how it would be. I told you yesterday morning, don't you remember. You are seeing things when there ain't things to see. You've got 'em, sure."

Jinks raises up in bed. "Do you mean to tell me," said he, "that there ain't no snakes and things there?"

"Most assuredly I do."

Jinks considered a moment, and then lying down said, in a sorrowful voice and with a mild, repellent wave of the hand, "take away your cocktail?"

The story got out. Jinks found that he was sold, but he quit drinking, for every time he put his nose into a saloon, where he used to "infest," some one would sing out—"take away your cocktail?"—Cincinnati Times.

THE FALLEN SON.—Follow him home now from the scene of his debauch. He is an only son. On him the hopes of the family are centered. Every nerve has been strained to give him the choicest education. Parents and sisters gloried in his talents and looked forward to his future fame. Alas! already these visions are less bright.

Enter now the family circle. Parents surrounded by lovely daughters. Within that circle reigns peace, virtue and refinement. The evening has been spent in animated conversation and the sweet interchange of affectionate endearment. But there is one who used to share all this, who was the centre of that circle. why is he not here? The hour of devotion has come, they kneel before their Father and God. A voice that used to mingle in their praises is wanting. An hour rolls away—another hour has gone. Why has all cheerfulness gone? Why do those parents start at every footstep? The step of that son and brother is heard. The door is opened—he staggers in before them, and is stretched out at their feet in all the loathsomeness of intoxication.

A TRAVELER entered a tavern, and seeing no one present but the landlord and a negro, seated himself, and entered into conversation with the negro. Shortly afterwards he asked Sambo if he was dry, Sambo said he was. Stranger told him to step up to the bar and take something at his expense. Negro did so and soon left. Landlord says to the stranger:

"Are you acquainted with that nigger?"

"No, never saw him before; but why do you ask?"

"I supposed you were, from your conversing with him, and asking him to take a drink."

"Oh," said the stranger, "I was only experimenting. The fact is, I was dry myself, and I thought that if your liquor didn't kill the nigger in fifteen minutes, I would venture to take a drink myself."

ELOQUENCE.—A certain political speaker closed an address in behalf of his party with the following extravigant peroration: "Build a worm fence around a winter's supply of summer weather; skim the clouds from the sky with a teaspoon; catch a thunderbolt in a bladder; break a hurricane to harness; ground sluice an earthquake; bake h—ll in an ice house; lasso an avalanche; pin a diaper on the crator of an active volcano; hive all the stars in a nail keg; bang the ocean on a grapevine to dry; put the sky to soak in a gourd; unbuckle the belly band of eternity, and paste 'to let' on the sun moon, but never for a moment, sir, delude yourself with an idea that any ticket or party can beat the Republican.

The Destroyer and his Victim.

On a hot summer day a gentleman sat down to think over a subject on which his mind was greatly troubled. He was wondering how it was that so many of the young men of his acquaintance had yield edto temptation and been destroyed He was wondering how the great Tempter could so soon get them entangled in his nets, and never let them loose again till they were ruined.

While he was thinking over the subject he saw a worm moving along softly in the footpath. He moved quietly, and without fear. "Now," said the gentleman to himself, "that poor worm can go safely, though it has no reason to guide it. There lies in wait no destroyer to entangle it, while our young men, with reason and conscience, are destroyed by scores!" Just then he saw a spider dart across the path, about a foot in front of the worm. She did not appear to be thinking of the worm, nor the worm of her. When she got quite across the path, she stopped, and stood still. The worm kept on, but soon was brought to a stand by a small cord, too small for our eyes to see, which the spider had spun as she rushed before him. Finding himself stopped, the worm turned to go back. The instant he turned, back darted the spider, spinning a new cord behind her. The worm was now brought up a second time, and twisted and turned every way to escape. He seemed now to suspect some mischief, for he ran this way and that way, and every time he turned, the spider darted around him, weaving another rope. There gradually was no space left for him, except in the direction of the hole of the spider!

That was left open, but on all other sides, by darting across and around, the space was gradually growing less. It was noticed, too, that every time the worm turned towards the hole of the spider, he was instantly hemmed in so that he could not get back quite as far as before. So his very agony continually brought him nearer the place of death! It took a full hour to do all this and by that time the worm was brought close to the hole of his destroyer. He now seemed to feel that he was helpless, and if he could have screamed, he doubtless would have done so. And now the spider eyed him a moment, as if enjoying his terror, and laughing at her own skill, and then darted on him, and struck him with her fangs. Instantly the life began to flow out. Again she struck him, and the poor thing rolled over in agony and died. Mrs. Spider now hitched one of her little ropes to her victim, and drew him to her hole, where she feasted at her leisure, perhaps counting over the number of poor victims whom she had destroyed in the same way before!

When I see a boy who goes with bad company, and who listens to their profane and licentious conversation, I think of the spider and her victim.

When I see a boy breaking the Sabbath by going off to fish, to swim, or to play.

When I see one disregarding his father and mother, and doing what he knows will grieve them;

When I see one occasionally going to the oyster cellar, and to the drinking saloon in company;

When I see one going to the theatre where nothing good, but all evil, is displayed;

When I have reason to suspect that he takes money from his father or employer, which is none of his, but which he hopes to replace;

Why, I always think of the spider and her victim, and mourn that

The Thayer and Greenbank Contested Election Case.

The coffee-pot frauds of W. A. Wallace & Co. will not soon be forgotten by the people of Pennsylvania, nor will the people ever forget the outrageous frauds committed by the Democratic party in Philadelphia at the last October election. The Republican Press of Philadelphia openly and fearlessly charged home these frauds upon the Democratic party, and which were most emphatically denied by the Democratic organs every where. But the THAYER and GREENBANK contested election case settles the question. There is no longer any room for the Democracy to deny the charges of outrageous frauds in the Philadelphia election.—Every investigation made brings to light a state of facts both scandalous and disgraceful. Judges THAYERS and GREENBANK were the opposing candidates for a seat upon the bench of the District Court of Philadelphia. The charge of fraud was raised and the election contested.

The Committee of the Legislature, to whom was submitted the settlement of the case, have been enabled to come to a conclusion by a simple count of the ballots of the Sixteenth Division of Twentieth Ward. How many of these were fraudulent will never be known, as the investigation need not be pressed any further. The return of the election officers represented the vote for THAYER to be 244, and that for GREENBANK 310, making the majority for the latter 66.

The true counting of the ballots by the committee shows the number of votes cast for THAYER to have been 283, and the number for GREENBANK 270, making THAYER'S true majority 13. The information from the committee is to the effect that this correction, together with mistakes previously corrected and admitted by GREENBANK'S counsel, elects THAYER. We do not wonder that the Republicans of Philadelphia are clamerous for the passage of a law which will enable them to prevent a repetition of these wicked frauds committed by perjured Democrats. The city is clearly Republican, on a fair election, as the result of the investigations, already made, show.—But if fraudulent voters and repeaters are allowed to take possession of the polls, and when this fails to elect their candidates, to misrepresent the returns so as to show a majority, there had far better be no election held.

Will the Democratic Watchman have the courage and honesty to condemn the conduct of its party in Philadelphia? Will it have sufficient honesty to even state that GREENBANK was ousted? If it does, we will give it credit with a little of what we never believed it possessed--political honesty.

The Majority in Centre County.

Taking the native born vote in this county, the Republican party has a handsome majority. But we have from five to six hundred foreign born adopted fellow citizens—the majority of these natives of Ireland. Three-fourths of all these adopted citizens have heretofore voted with the Democratic party, and thus gave it the control of all the offices in the county.—It cannot be the fear of Know-nothingism that causes these men of foreign birth to vote the Democratic ticket. The best evidence we have for this assertion is the fact that these same men voted last fall for FRANK P. BLAIR and M. L. MACKEY, who were among the first knownothings in the country. Why, then, do our adopted fellow citizens act and vote with the sham Democracy? We appeal to every intelligent Irishman, and ask him what the Democratic party has ever done for him. Has it ever nominated you or any of your countrymen in this county, where it owes its strength to your votes, to any position of honor or profit? Has it ever given you any thing that you did not have to pay for? Did all the blarney of these Democratic politicians ever benefit you one dollar? Did it ever put clothes upon your backs, money in your pockets, or shoes upon the feet of your dear little children? No; it has done no such thing; and you know it just as well as we. On the contrary, they have sought to make pack horses of you—hewers of wood and drawers of water—mere cats paws, with which they have drawn the political chestnut out of the fire, and fattened on the good, "fat takes."

They have advocated, and the Watchman now advocates, free trade, a policy which must not only impoverish you, but bring ruin and disaster upon the laboring and manufacturing interests of our whole country, while at the same time it enriches England and enables her to trample with impunity upon suffering Ireland. Are these not facts? There is no use in getting mad about it! It is all true, and we dare and defy the Watchman, or "any other man," to contradict the facts as here set forth. We will refer to this subject again.

—A letter from Mexico city states that fears were entertained among the commercial community that the government would be compelled to resort to a forced loan, as three million dollars in specie were just about to leave the country. It was believed that one half of it was being exported to avoid that contingency.

National Woman's Suffrage Convention.

The address of the National Woman's Suffrage Convention was presented recently to the Senate, and referred to the District of Columbia Committee. The women have rights. Of course they have. We have no objections to them holding conventions and demanding those rights. Women voting would certainly be something new under the sun; and there would, it seems to us, be something very pleasant in a man and his better-half going up to the election window together to deposit their votes; but suppose they would differ in politics; what then?—Again would they not be likely to copy after the sterner sex, and get into the habit of keeping late hours, frequenting the grog-shops under the pretext of securing a vote, fighting, hair pulling, blacking each other's eyes, gouging, scratching, biting, raising Cain generally, and get locked up for their rowdyism? How would it sound to hear on the street—Woman fight at Mr, ——'s Saloon. Mrs. Seymourite in jail for drunkenness, quarrelling and disorderly conduct generally. Fine $10 and costs, and the dear husband compelled to fork over the scrip! Mrs. Anna Dickinson, perhaps, don't believe it would be so bad as this; but does she know any more about it than we do? We hope Miss. Anna will give us her views. We must cease moralizing on this subject, however, and let our male readers know what the members of the Woman's Suffrage Convention in the address referred to, think of mankind generally. The address embraces forty pages printed and written matter. We make a few extracts:

We object to manhood suffrage or a man's government, because the male element is a destructive force—stern, selfish, aggrandizing; loving war violence, conquest, acquisition; breeding in the material and moral world alike, discord, disorder, disease and death. See what a record of blood and cruelty the pages of history reveal. Through what slavery, slaughter, and sacrifices; through what inquisitions and imprisonments, pains and prosecutions, black codes and gloomy creeds the soul of humanity has struggled for the centuries, while mercy has veiled her face, and all hearts have been dead alike to love and hope. The male element has held high carnival thus far; it has fairly run riot from the beginning, overpowering the feminine everywhere, crushing out all the diviner elements in human nature, until we know but little of true manhood and womanhood; of the latter comparatively nothing, for it has scarce been recognized as an element of power until within the last century. The hard; iron rule we feel alike in the Church, the State and the home. No one need wonder at the disorganization of society, at the fragmentary condition of everything, when we remember that man, who represents but half a complete being, with half an idea on every subject, has undertaken the absolute control of all sublunary matters. * * * * * * Think what the condition of the women of this country will be when all the lower orders of foreigners now invading our shores—Dutch, Irish, Chinese and Africans, legislate for them and their daughters. Think of Patrick and Sambo, and Hans and Yang Tung, who do not know the difference between a monarchy and a republic; who cannot read the Declaration of Independence or Webster's spelling book, making laws for Lucretia Mott, Ernestine L. Rose, Susan B. Anthony, or Anna E. Dickinson.

We object to the proposed amendment of manhood suffrage, because it is an open, deliberate insult to the wise and thoughtful women of the nation to set them aside in this way without notice or apology, &c.

The Elections on Friday.

Last week we urged upon our Republican friends the importance of nominating good men for the respective offices; after which, to make one strong pull and a pull altogether, to elect them. We sincerely hope, friends, that you will act upon our suggestion and do your whole duty. No one can estimate the importance to a party of thorough organization, and in the spring elections, is the time to make this influence felt. For eight years the Democrats have had full control of all the county offices. They have had their own way in the management of the finances of the county. What is the result? Simply this. Your county taxes under Republican rule in this county, were 2½ mills to the dollar. Now, under Democratic misrule and extravagance your county taxes amount to 7½ mills to the dollar. Democracy, as you see, has been a very expensive luxury in this county. You want a change. We know you do. Every honest man in the county does. How can this be brought about? By commencing the work now. By every man doing his whole duty and turning out to the election on Friday next. This will pave the way for a glorious victory next October—a total rout of sham Democracy, horse, foot and dragoon, Court House clique and all.

WISCONSIN has a Legislature of carpet-baggers. Of the Senate, containing thirty-three members in all, not one was born in the State. Sixteen went from New York, three from Pennsylvania, seven from the New England States, three were born in Europe, and the rest went to Wisconsin from New Jersey, Georgia, Ohio and Washington. The House of Representatives has one hundred members. Of these thirty-two are natives of New York, twenty of New England, twenty-six of Europe, three of Canada, eight of Ohio, and six of Pennsylvania; Maryland, Kentucky and Indiana gave birth to one each, and Wisconsin to two.

From Washington.

Special to the Harrisburg Telegraph.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.

Messrs Morton, Wilson and Pruyn, the committee appointed to notify General Grant of his election, waited upon him at his headquarters this morning at half-past ten.

Senator Morton made a formal announcement in an appropriate and complimentary speech, alluding to the qualities which had determined the country in its choice, and the expectations that were entertained of the manner in which the trust would be discharged.

General Grant, after replying formally to the compliments conveyed, and saying he would try faithfully and honestly to discharge the duties of his position, and there was one subject to which he desired to allude to at this time. He should endeavor to select for his assistants in the administration of the Government capable, honest and patriotic men, and in this he hoped to have the concurrence of the Senate that if he did not succeed in getting competent men on the first trial he should remove them and select others. That he should have no more hesitancy in changing his appointees than those of his predecessors in office. He had from the first deemed it improper to give any indication who would receive cabinet appointments until after he had received official notice of his own election. He had not yet advised anybody whom he had selected for these places. He had not even conversed with any of the persons themselves.

From the various communications he had received, and from what he had heard, he was convinced that some of the persons he should choose would be opposed by combinations of influential men in the party which had supported him, not because they were unfit and personally objectionable, but because these parties desired the appointment of their own friends.

He must mainly be governed by his own ideas of the fitness of men for work they would have to have performed, and that he had finally concluded not to give any indication of his purposes till he sent his nominations to the Senate, or if he did give the persons selected previous notice, it would only be a day or two before their names were sent in.

At the conclusion of his remarks Mr. Pruyn, the Democratic member of the committee, stepped forward and said that although he and his party had opposed the General's election, he could depend upon their support in carrying out the policy he had just announced.

This sally produced a general burst of laughter from the staff and spectators gathered around, in which General Grant joined heartily, and the congratulatory conversation and handshaking then became general.

THE BUTLER RESOLUTION.

WASAINGTON, Feb. 12.—Mr. Butler's resolution censuring President Wade for his decision in joint convention, &c., was laid on the table to-day, on motion of Mr. Logan, who closed the debate, by a vote af 135 to 55.

THE PRESIDENT ELECT.

In a recent conversation between General Grant and a prominent politician the General spoke very frankly of the efforts of certain of the Democratic papers to produce a breach between him and the Republican party, and added that any man who would undertake such a task, after Andrey Johnson's attempt, would be a madman indeed. The General seems to understand the whole drift of the opposition, and is evidently resolved to co-operate with the great party which elected him.

There is every indication that the President elect will not allow himself to be associated in any way with Andrew Johnson during the inauguration ceremonies.

The city is becoming more crowded every day. Many persons are on the ground, intending to go south for the purpose of investment, immediately after the inauguration.

GENERAL SHERMAN.

The friends of General Sherman have purchased the residence now occupied by Gen. Grant, on I street, near New Jersey avenue, for sixty-five thousand dollars, and intend presenting it to him directly after he becomes General-in-chief in place of the President elect.

THE ASSASSINATION OF EX-SENATOR MCCONNELL, OF ILLINOIS.—The assassination of Ex-Senator Murray McConnell, of Illinois, has created an extraordinary excitement throughout that State. Gen. McConnell was one of the oldest citizens of Central Illinois, and had, perhaps, taken a more active part in its political history than any other living man. He was a man of decided ability, ready wit and considerable scientific and literary attainments. He was a successful lawyer, having been the associate of Baker, Lincoln, Lamberton, Douglas and others of like character. He was a participant in the Black Hawk war, and shortly after was elected Representative in the Legislature. From 1864 to 1868 he was a member of the Senate of Illinois. Under Buchanan he held the office of First Auditor of the Treasury.

On the morning of his assassination he breakfasted with his family about eight o'clock. At half-past eight he was seen in his room alone, reading. Fifteen minutes later he was found cold and lifeless, with five deep gashes in his head. It is thought the wounds were made by a slung-shot or hammer. No one was seen to enter the premises, and thus far no clue has been obtained of the murderer. Mr, McConnell's residence was located in one of the most densely populated parts of the city of Jacksonville.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I noticed, some time ago, a short article in relation to the County Superintendency, published in the Bellefonte National; and being a citizen of the County, and thus far interested in the educational interests of the same, I am also interested, to the same extent, in the question of the Superintendency, and therefore seek your columns to express my views in relation thereto.

The question as to the necessity or propriety of the County Superintendency has been much mooted, and I will not attempt to discuss it here, believing it to be a very essential part of the school system, if properly filled, and the duty well and promptly discharged. It becomes us, then, as a matter of duty, to select the most capable and fit man for this responsible position, and not by gross indifference and neglect, permit some incompetent and unworthy aspirant to be foisted upon us, and thus, instead of the schools of the County being advanced thereby, they would be retarded.—Every one should feel sufficiently interested in the question of education to seek its advancement by every fair means; because we have, walking hand-in-hand with it, high-toned civilization and christianity; while encouragement to ignorance brings with it crime and pauperism, and their concomitant evils. The time for the election of County Superintendent is not very far distant—the first Monday in May, next; so that those upon whom the responsibility of electing rests, (Directors,) should put themselves upon inquiry in regard to the matter. Consider the duties of a Superintendent, and be prepared to select the man who will best discharge them, to the building up of the schools. I believe the only two names before the public, in connection with the office, are those of the present incumbant, Mr. Magee, and Prof. D H. Hastings, of Bellefonte. As regards the present incumbant, either as a gentleman, or as to his qualifications, I shall say nothing, but think the question of a change should at least be taken into consideration by those who elect.

I have the pleasure of the acquaintance of Prof. Hastings, and think him eminently qualified for the position, in every particular. He has been identified with the common school interests in this and adjoining Counties for many years. His experience as a teacher has been large and successful. I am very creditably informed that his Superintendency of the schools of Bellefonte for the two last years, has been attended with success, and rendered more universal satisfaction than any of his predecessors for many years, and therefore think his claims are entitled to a favorable consideration. Hoping that our Directors may become sufficiently interested in this question to consider the various merits of the candidates, and elect in accordance therewith, that due consideration will be given to our preference.

We are respectfully yours,

LIBERTY.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 10'69.

MESSRS. BROWN & HUTCHISON—Gents;—While you are swelling the ranks of the great Republican party, by teaching the people the truth of that great principle inscribed in the corner-stone of our republic, "that all men are created equal, endowed with certain inalienable rights, life, liberty and the persuit of happiness," we, too, in our young, but loyal State, are working in the right, as God gives us light. We are just cutting loose from the old fogyisms of the South, and we can say truthfully, what none other of the southern States can say, that all men are protected in their rights. Our State is hilly; but on every hill side may be seen cropping out coal and iron oar. Our Valleys are as beautiful, and as rich in soil, as those of any other State. Rich, not only in mineral wealth, (it being the heart of the great coal formation of the United States,) but in our vast and undeveloped forests, our timber is immense, both in size and quality, and our lands are offered for sale far below their value, and it is because our long-buried treasures are not yet developed. We want live Yankees here with money, and we will soon take rank second to none of our sister States. Charleston, situate at the mouth of Elk river, on the great Kanawha, is already a place of business for business men. Large mills have lately been erected here by Northern men, who, floating their logs down the Elk river, and its tributaries, at little cost, are speedily manufactured into lumber, for which the demand exceeds the supply, and sold for a better price than can be had in the markets of the Keystone State. THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE FOR 1869.

Within the last eight years our country has triumphantly passed through the gravest and most trying perils which have confronted her ever since her Independence was acknowledged. She has vindicated beyond appeal her right to be regarded as no mere confederacy or league of jealous, envious, discordant States, but as substantially and permanently a Nation, wherein the pretensions of no part can be admitted or upheld in opposition to the integrity, the paramount authority, of One Republic.

The right of each man, by virtue of his birth or naturalization as a citizen of the United States, to the full enjoyment of "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness," until he shall forfeit the right by crime, is also established on impregnable foundations. Our fathers proclaimed it in justifying their separation from Great Britain; it was left to us to establish as a fact what they merely affirmed as a principle. What the cannon of Saratoga and Yorktown proclaimed as an abstraction, the cannon of Gettysburg, Vicksburg, and Five Forks, established as a living, embodied, enacted truth. Widely as our flag now floats, still more widely as it may float hereafter, there is, there can henceforth be, no legal master, no fettered slave. Wrong and abuse, servility and oppression, may still exist; but the Federal Constitution is no longer their shield, and the folds of our flag no longer emblazon nor seek to conceal a lie. The humblest American, so long as he violates no law, is master of his own limbs and the sole owner of all he can earn.

Of these immense results, the importance and the beneficence will become more palpable with every added year. Distance is required to enable us to measure and appreciate the magnitude of the pyramid of Four Millions of shackles, stricken from the scarred limbs of our countrymen, which form the enduring monument of our struggle and our triumph. New arts, new industries, new developments of natural wealth, too long unheeded and unvalued, will year by year stand forth in attestation that none of us has as yet adequately realized the magnitude and the benignity of our National victory.

No great good is ever achieved without effort or without cost. Four years of patriotic struggle and sacrifice, Half a Million of men slain in battle or dying of the privations and exposures of War, Millions of bereaved ones, Five Billions of property destroyed, and nearly Three Billions of Debt incurred, attest the magnitude of the contest and the unyielding valor of the combatants.

At length, the smoke rises from the hard-won field, showing that the last entrenchment has been carried. The election of Grant and Colfax gives assurance that the storm is over—that the Bow of Promise arches the sky. There are still obstacles to surmount, perils to avert, noble ends to be achieved; but the ship of State has ridden out the tempest and has her haven full in view. The seven States reconstructed under the recent acts of Congress, and will be followed by the three that have hitherto stood aloof; the right of the Freedmen will be upheld and respected, and Impartial Suffrage throughout the land will soon plant them on foundations that cannot be shaken.

The Tribune will contend in the future, as in the past, for Universal Amnesty as well as for Impartial Suffrage. It has no faith in vengeance, in proscription, in confiscation, nor in the shedding of blood otherwise than in actual and necessary war. "There is a time for War and a time for Peace;" and the latter follows swiftly on the heels of the former. Whenever those who fought against the Union shall have in good faith given up the contest, they are no longer our foes but our countrymen.

In the joyful trust that Grant's election has given the death-blow to Ku-Klux Klans, and all manner of outrages on Unionists and Freedmen as such, and that Impartial Suffrage will no longer be seriously resisted, we hope to see the next four years signalized by an unprecedented expansion of the National Industry and a consequent increase of the National wealth. We hope to see new cabins dot the prairie, new clearings conquer the forest, new mills, factories, furnaces, erected, North, South, East and West, until our annual product shall be Hundreds of Millions greater than at present, while Mines of Iron and of Coal, of Gold, Silver, Copper, &c., shall be opened and worked, with an energy and to an extent that defies precedent. Believing that the systematic, efficient Protection of Home Industry is the corner-stone of a wise, benignant National Policy, and that it is essential to the rapid development of our latent resources, the prosperity of our country, the maintenance of her Credit, and the honest payment of her Debt, we shall give it our most earnest and active support.

THE DAILY TRIBUNE

has been so long known as the leading political newspaper of the country, that its special features need no elaborate description. It contains the fullest and most accurate reports of the proceedings in Congress and the State Legislatures, careful summaries of news from all quarters of the globe, correspondence from all the principal centers of intelligence at home and abroad, letters from travelers in foreign lands, reviews of new books, dramatical, musical and fine art, criticisms, literary, scientific, and religious miscellanies, and all the multitude of items which make up a first-class daily paper. It is printed with better and cleaner type than any other daily journal in America. It is published every morning, Sunday excepted. Terms, $10 a year; $5 or six months.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE

is published every Tuesday and Friday, and contains all the editorial articles, not merely local in character; literary reviews and art criticisms; letters from a large corps of foreign and domestic correspondents; special and Associated Press telegraphic dispatches; a careful and complete summary of foreign and domestic news; exclusive reports of the proceedings of the Farmers Club of the American Institute; talks about fruit and other horticultural and agricultural information; stock, financial, cattle, dry goods, and general market reports, which are published in The Daily Tribune. The Semi-Weekly Tribune also gives, in the course of a year, three or four of the best and latest popular novels, by living authors. The cost of these alone, if bought in book form, would be from six to eight dollars. If purchased in the English magazines, from which they are carefully selected, the cost would be three or four times that sum. Nowhere else can so much current intelligence and permanent literary matter be had at so cheap a rate as in The Semi-Weekly Tribune. Those who believe in the principles and approve of the character of The Tribune can increase its power and influence by joining with their neighbors in forming clubs to subscribe for The Semi-Weekly edition. It will in that way be supplied to them at the lowest price for which such a paper can be printed.

THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE

has continued to circulate a greater number of copies than any other newspaper in the country. We appreciate this confidence, and shall labor to retain it. Its previous attractions will be continued and increased. The main features of our Weekly will be agriculture, literature, politics, and the markets, with the latest summary of the daily news. We have made special arrangements to increase its usefulness as an agricultural journal. The Farmers' Club will be fully reported, and special articles on agricultural topics contributed by the best writers. No farmer who desires to till the soil with profit, and to know the progress constanly made in the science of his calling, can afford to neglect the advantages of a newspaper like The Weekly Tribune, especially when it unites with agriculture other features of interest and profit. The Weekly Tribune contains a summary of all that appears in The Daily and Semi Weekly editions, while in addition it is made to address itself to the wants of the great farming class. Reviews all of the new publications, and of all that is new in music and the fine arts; letters from all parts of the world—some of them of rare interest to the farmer, as showing the progress of agriculture in other countries; editorial essays on all topics of home and foreign interest, together will be furnished from week to week, and at a lower price than that of any newspaper in America. By pursuing this policy The Weekly Tribune has already attained its present commanding influence and circulation, and we enter upon the new year with an assurance to our readers that no pains and no expense will be spared to give it it great-er usefulness and power, and to make it a welcome visitor to every fireside in the land.

The Editor of The Tribune purposes to write, during the year 1869, an elementary work on Political Economy, wherein the policy of Home Industry will be explained and vindicated. This work will first be given to the public through successive issues of The Tribune, and will appear in all its editions—Daily, Semi-Weekly, and Weekly.

We will thank those who think that the influence of The Tribune conduces to the profit and well being of the people, to aid us in extending its circulation.

GREELEY'S HISTORY OF THE WAR.

The Tribune has often been applied to for copies of Mr. Greeley's history of the late Civil War, entitled The American Conflict. Many evidently presume that it is published by us, so that we can give copies at pleasure. In several cases Union soldiers have written us saying that they were unable to pay its full price, but were nevertheless anxious to possess the work, and asking us to tell them by what means they may obtain it.

In deference to these representions the publishers of The Tribune have made an arrangement with Messrs. O. D. Case & Co., publishers of The American Conflict, whereby they are enabled to offer that work to such persons as may see fit to obtain mail subscriptions for The Tribune as follows:

One copy of the History, in two volumes, will be sent to each of the following clubs:

The money for each club to be sent at one time, and all papers for the same club to be addressed to one Post-Office.

For $21, ten copies Weekly Tribune, to names of subscribers

For $33, twenty copies Weekly Tribune, to names of subscribers.

For $61, fifty copies Weekly Tribune, to names of subscribers.

For $116, one hundred copies Weekly Tribune, to name of subscribers

For $20, ten copies Weekly Tribune, to one address.

For $31, twenty copies Weekly Tribune, to one address.

For $56, fifty copies Weekly Tribune, to one address.

For $106, one hundred copies Weekly Tribune, one address.

For $36, ten copies Semi-Weekly Tribune, to one Post-Office.

For $62, twenty copies Semi-Weekly Tribune, to one Post-Office.

For $116, forty copies Semi-Weekly Tribune, to one Post-Office.

Friends wishing to secure the History on these terms must send the Clubs precisely as we have them, Semi-Weekly and Weekly, subscriptions must not be mixed in one Club.

The American Conflict is a History of the late Civil War, its causes and incidents, in two large and well printed octavos of 648 and 782 pages respectively, and is sold for $10. It is abundantly and admirably illustrated with plans of battles and seiges, portraits of Presidents, Generals, Governors, &c., who were prominent in the struggle, and with a very large Map of the seat of war. It has received from all quarters the highest commendations for accuracy of statement and fullness of detail. It is substantially bound, and must be deemed a valuable addition to any library. These volumes sho'd be placed in every School District library in the land, and each school contains scholars who can, with a few hours of attention, raise a Tribune Club and secure the history. Almost any one who wants can now obtain it by giving a few hours to obtaining subscription for the The Tribune among his friends and neighbors, and we hope many will be incited to do so. The work will be promptly forwarded by express or by mail, prepaid, on receipt of the required subscriptions.

Terms, cash in advance.

Drafts on New-York, or Post-Office orders, payable to the order of THE TRIBUNE, being safer, are preferable to any other mode of remittance. Address

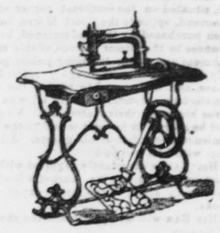
AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE

OVER SEAMING AND SEWING MACHINE COMBINED.

MEDAL AWARDED AT THE PARIS EXPOSITION, 1867.



In directing attention to the celebrated COMBINATION BUTTON HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE, we feel fully warranted in claiming for it unquestionable superiority over all others as a Family Machine.—The Simplicity, Ease and Certainty with which it operates, as well as the uniform excellence of its work, certainly places it far in advance of any other similar invention of the age.

It is also the cheapest, intrinsically, as well as the best, since it is really two machines combined in one, (by a simple and beautiful mechanical arrangement never before accomplished by human ingenuity,) making either the Lock Stitch or Button Hole Stitch, as occasion may require. It is, at the same time, simple in construction, comparatively noiseless, easily understood, and, in a word, it combines with those advantages exclusively its own the most desirable qualities of all others, for it not only does every variety of sewing in a SUPERIOR MANNER, but in addition OVERSEAMS splendidly and makes beautiful BUTTON and EYELET HOLES in all fabrics. This is far beyond the capacity of any other machine.

The SPLENDID MECHANISM of this Machine, and the superior skill workmanship and materials employed in its construction, are a guarantee of accuracy, strength and durability, and enable the company and its agents to Warrant Every Machine they sell to give entire satisfaction.

INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN ON THE MACHINE GRATUITOUSLY.

FOR SALE.—A first class farm, within two miles of Bellefonte, is now for sale. Any person wishing to buy, can learn full particulars, by calling at the office of the Bellefonte Republican.

BOOK STORE.—We invite attention to the advertisement of Geo. Livingston. Mr. Livingston is well known to all the people of Centre county, having been engaged in the Book business in Bellefonte for twenty or twenty-five years.

PAUP, SALMON'S & CO.—We invite attention to the business card of Messrs. Paup, Salmon's & Co. This is a good firm, composed of good mechanics, honest and reliable men Persons wishing to build brick houses, would do well to employ the men composing this firm. See, card.

VANVALIN & LAMBERT.—O. W. Vanvalin and O. B. Lambert, have entered into partnership in the plastering business. They are both first class plasterers, honest and industrious men, and we have no doubt will execute their work just as they promise. We wish them abundance of work, and greenbacks in return See card

THERE will be a "Social Temperance Meeting" composed of all the friends of the cause, on Monday evening, Feb. 22, in the Lodge Room of the Independent Order of Good Templers. The meeting is called for consultation, prayer, remarks, &c., and to provide means by which the cause may be advanced. Let the friends of Temperance rally.

ACCIDENT.—We are sorry to learn that Geo. R. Quick, of Boggs township, was severely injured at White,s Mills at Lock Haven on Friday last. Mr. Quick and a comrade were hewing timber, the axe slipped from the hand of the comrade and struck Mr. Quick on the leg, just below the knee, inflicting an ugly gash—a severe wound.

JACOB D. MILLER.—From our advertising columns our readers will learn that J. D. Miller, is firmly established in the Book and Stationery business on Allegheny street, next door to the law office of the Messrs. Blanchard. Mr. Miller deserves success, and we are happy to state is being well patronized. The more books, the more intelligence. Call and see him.

ARCADE RESTAURANT.—In another column will be seen the advertisement of G. M. Peck, proprietor of the Arcade Restaurant, Bush's Arcade Building. Mr. Peck is well known to our citizens, was a good soldier and for a long time suffered all the horrors of the Rebel prisons belle. He should be well patronized. His table is supplied with the choice of the market. Meals at all hours. Prices moderate. Ye weary, hungry, thirsty ones give him a call. See advertisement.

DISTRUCTIVE FIRE IN ALTOONA—LOSS ESTIMATED AT $25,000.—A destructive fire occured in Altoona on Railroad street, Friday morning. The fire broke out in the rear office of the Vindicator, at 1:45 A. M., and raged until six o'clock before the flames were subdued. The Vindicator building was burned, together with the grocery store of J. Berkowitz. The office and frame dwelling of R. A. O. Kerr was destroyed, and the flames also communicated to the banking house of Mr. Kerr, which was slightly damaged by fire. The total loss is estimated at $25,000.

OUTRAGEOUS TREATMENT OF SOLDIER'S ORPHANS AT THE JACKSONVILLE INSTITUTE.—This flourishing Institution, under the kindly and beneficent superintendence of Rev. D. G. Kline has, of late, been very roughly treated by that formidable monster, Measles. At last accounts about thirty were down. Under the efficient treatment of Dr. Jacob Rhoads, the malady will soon be expelled from the premises, so scared that its return may be considered doubtful; and then the little ones may again attend to their studies, as heretofore. It is not hard to appreciate the situation of the attendants, where so many, at once, are stricken down.

PUBLIC SALE.—There will be a public sale of horses, colts, cows, young cattle, breeding sows, shoats, wagons, Kirby Reaper, &c., at the residence of Jacob Kling, in Porter tp., on Saturday, the sixth of March next.

Also—At the residence of Aaron Sheaffer, near Beech Creek, Clinton co., Pa., on Tuesday the 2nd of March next. Mr. Sheaffer offers for sale four head of work horses, five milch cows, ten head of young cattle, twenty-one head of sheep, and a thousand and one other articles too numerous to mention. There is money and bargains in both these sales.

THE STOLEN MEAT.—It is now, we believe, a settled fact as to who broke open the smoke-house of Daniel Stover, on the Willow Bank farm. Our efficient police force, it appears, were too sharp for the thief. They have been on the alert ever since the theft was committed, and at last succeeded in obtaining evidence sufficient to warrant the arrest of Alexander Delige. Delige had been in town for some time, looking out for well filled smoke houses, &c. He is a bad colored man—an old jail bird. But judging from the character of the evidence against him, we presume he will now be sent where all "bad niggers go," to remain for seven, perhaps ten years. As he is, however, entitled to a fair trial first, we shall say nothing to prejudice his case.

Col. Shortlidge and his efficient staff officers deserve great credit for their untiring vigilence at all times, and for their action in this matter. We doubt not but the clothes line thieves will yet be ferreted out and rent up.

INCOME FOR 1868.—All persons should call upon the Assistant Assessor, of U. S. Revenue, of their respective districts, (with a detailed statement of their income from January 1st to December 31st 1868.) before the first of March next. It will save a great amount of trouble, if attended to promptly. Delinquents are liable to an assessment, with a penalty added.

Guardians, Trustees, Executors and Administrators, and persons acting in any other fiduciary capacity, are required to make returns of the income belonging to minors or other persons for whom they act.

LIBERTY TOWNSHIP ALWAYS AHEAD.—The Republicans of Liberty township, met in convention in the school house, at Eagleville, on the 29th ult., for the purpose of nominating candidates for the various township offices, to be voted for at the ensuing spring election. On motion, Jno. T. Clark, was chosen president; Jas. Galbreath, vice president, and W. H. Snyder, secretary.

After a short address by the president stating the object of the meeting, and a few preliminary remarks by W. F. Courter, Robt Martin and others, the house proceeded to ballot for candidates, which resulted in the nomination of a good ticket.

On motion, the nominations were made unanimous. After which, at the the suggestion of Mr. Courter, a fund was contributed, and placed in his hands to pay expense for printing tickets. The house adjourned in good order

W. H. SNYDER,
Sec'y.

THAT OYSTER SUPPER.—A magnificent collation, consisting of oysters, ice cream, cakes, &c., was served up at the house of James H. Rankin, Esq., under the auspices of the I. O. of G. T's. The object was to raise money. So far as this went, it was a decided success. May they have many more, and similar successes, as none are more deserving of patronage. The struggle of this benevolent and beneficent institution has been severe, and the public seemed to look upon it with indifference, or partly, rather, "to see which licks" financial difficulty, or the better cause. The workers in such an institution should not have all the paying to do, as the expenses are heavy, and more sacrifice required than some are willing to incur. It is hoped that the benevolent will come to the rescue.

TOBACCO STORE'—Capt. Fryberger who has kept and continues to keep a first class tobacco store in the Conrad House, Allegheny street, has opened another extensive establishment in the corner room of the Bush & McLain building near the depot. The Capt. is a clever fellow, keeps first rate chewing and smoking tobacco, segars, &c., and therefore deserves success. We are pleased to learn that our young friend S. C. Walters takes charge of the store near the depot on the first of March. Mr. Walters is a model young man, honest, industrious and persevering Capt. Fryberger could not have made a better selection. We wish them great success in both stores.

PENNSYLVANIA R. R.—Arrangements have been made by this enterprising company by which all persons wishing to go west, North-west, South or South-west, can procure through tickets, via Salt Lake City, Mobile, New Orleans, St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnatti, &c. &c., at the Bellefonte ticket office. This will be a great saving to persons wishing to move or travel West. We think it would also be an advantage both to the traveling community and the Railroad Company if the managers of the road would reduce the fare. We are satisfied that it would not lessen the dividends of the Railroad Company, because the travel would be increased. Be this as it may, we are thankful for the privilege of purchasing through tickets in Bellefonte.

We had the pleasure, the other day, for the first time, of seating ourselves in the new and elegant cars of the day express train, put on the B. E. V. R. R., on the 1st inst. We were highly pleased with the general order and neatness of the cars—the manner in which they were kept—the gentlemanly demeanor and obliging disposition of the Conductor, Mr. Stevens, and his entire crew, all of which were conducive to the comfort and cheer of the passengers. The B. E. V. R. R., with its two daily trains each way from Lock Haven to Tyrone, is one of the most elegantly equip ped and conducted roads in the State. Those having charge of the trains are gentlemanly and accommodating, looking carefully to the safety and comfort of passengers, which speaks well for its present administration and superintendency.

YOUNG MEN'S LITERARY ASSOCIATION OF BELLEFONTE, PA.—An informal meeting of a few young men was held in the Academy, on Tuesday evening, Feb. 19, to propose plans and discuss the probabilities of organizing a Reading-room and Literary Association. The meeting was opened by calling Prof. Hughes to the chair, and appointing Mr. Berry, Secretary. Prof. Hughes spoke at length on the subject, and threw out some very valuable hints. He was followed by some of the members and several plans were proposed. A Committee, composed of Messrs. Zimmerman, Humes and Fortney, was appointed to investigate and report on the matter of organization, business, &c. On motion, the name of Young Men's Literary Association was adopted. Adjourned to meet on Tuesday evening next, at 7½ o'clock, in same room. All are asked to attend who feel interested in the work.

GARMAN'S HOTEL.—In the advertising columns of the Republican, will be found the advertisement of Daniel Garman Esq., proprietor of the Garman Hotel. This is one of the best hotels in our romantic town, and Mr. Garman keeping pace with the progress of the times, has greatly enlarged and improved his house, and has now under course of completion a large addition to the building. The addition consists of a large three story brick, which, will be finished in early spring. When finished the Garman House will be very extensive indeed. Mr. Garman was compelled to build to make room for his steadily increasing customers. He is a clever man; knows how to keep a Hotel; sets a good table and charges moderate prices. Strangers and travelers will find it to their advantage to make their home with Mr. Garman while stopping in Bellefonte. For further particulars see advertisement.

HOW TO MAKE "HARD TIMES."—We have noted this recipe going the rounds of newspaperdom, frequently heretofore, but like many other things, it loses nothing by age. On the contrary, it is especially applicable to the present condition of affairs. Paste it in your hat. "A Good way to make Hard Times," is to refuse to pay all little bills, although you have the money in your pocket!—push men to pay you who haven't the money, although you can get along without it—if a man don't meet his obligations just at the time they become due, report that he is about to "burst"—cut down the wages of your hands before it is necessary—keep back all your market until the prices get up to 'starvation rates'—use money in speculations that you should pay your creditors with—forget that unnecessary retrenchments increase hard times instead of bettering them—carry a long face and talk long and mournful of evils to come—do those and other acts like them and 'hard times' will surely come, however little real cause there may be for them."

A WORD TO YOUNG MEN.—Young men should understand, says the Harrisburg Telegraph, that their future, under Providence, depends upon themselves; and Providence always helps those who help themselves. Success in life depends upon industry and perseverance. The world, it is said owes every man a living and so it does—if he earns it.

Good or bad habits are soon formed, and are not likely to be changed. The community soon find out what a young man is, and treat him accordingly. The steady and industrious can always find employment. No man is long without work who really wants it.

The young man who spends his leisure hours in idleness and dissipation cannot expect prosperity or happiness in after life. We do not mean that every hour is to be occupied with mental and physical labor. The mind, as well as the body, requires rest, but the intervals of rest may be periods of progress. There may be social enjoyment without seeking for it in the haunts of dissipation, or among companions whose only influence can be for evil.

Life is too short to admit of any portion of it being wasted. The working man who respects himself will not be found hanging around taverns and beer saloons; the professional man will not find time for the billiard saloon or gaming table. The mechanic will devote his leisure time to the improvement of his mind. The young physician or lawyer will find his professional books more useful than billiards. Knowledge is power, and by acquiring knowledge every man fits himself for the emergencies of the future.

FASHIONABLE RELIGION.—Fanny Fern makes the following sharp thrust at fashionable religion: Our Catholic brethren have set us, at least, one good example; their churches are not silent as the tomb on week-days. Their worshippers do not do up all their religion on Sunday. It may be only for a few moments they step in through that open church door, on a week-day, to kneel and lay down burdens too heavy else to be borne. I like the custom. I should rather say the reminder, and the opportunity thus afforded them; and I heartily wish that our protestant churches could thus be opened. If rich Christians object to the promiscuous use of their velvet cushions and gilded prayer-books, at least let the aisles and the altar be free to those who need God on the week day—for the poor, the tried, the tempted—for those who shrink, in their shabby habiliments, from the Sunday exhibition of fine toilettes, and superfine Christianity. Were I a minister, and obliged to preach to paniers and diamonds and satins, on Sunday, I think I should have to ease my heart in some such way as this to make my pastoral life endurable, else my office would seem to me the most hollow of all mockeries. "The rich and the poor meet together, and the Lord is the Maker of them all," should be inscribed out side my church door, had I one. I could not preach to those paniers and their owners. My tongue would be paralized at the sight of those kneeling distortions of womanhood, bearing such a resemblance to organ-grinders' monkeys. I am not sure that I should not grow hysterical over it, and laugh and cry at the same breath, instead of preaching. I can never tell what vent my disgust would take; but I am sure it must have some escape valve. You may say that such worshippers (Heaven save the mark!) need preaching to. I tell you that women given over to "the devil and his works" are past praying for—"having eyes, they see not; having ears, they hear not." They are ossified—impervious; they are Dead sea apples, full of ashes." Fanny, for a woman as she is, strikes some hard blows.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I have had the pleasure of examining every number of the Republican, as it issued forth from the press, and found its way to my sanctum; the doing of which has afforded me no small degree of satisfaction. After the careful perusal of its several numbers, I am prepared to say that I like the Republican, and intend making it my constant companion, and enclose herewith, the amount of one years subscription. It may be well enough to state why I think favorably of the Republican. Well, firstly; as a "clergyman Domine," would say, they being supposed to be exemplars, there can be no reason why we should not ape them a little sometimes, because every body who has seen and read at all, thinks favorably of it. Then it is neatly gotten up, and its matter orderly and systematically arranged; it localises generally, picks up small bits of information, such as the public are eager for, and strongly advocates reform. But again, (please excuse the ministerial) its editorial chair must be broad, solid and firmly seated, because its editorial columns boldly advance its political principles, bearing with them the conviction that truth and human rights lie at their foundation. The elevated tone of its dicussion, addresses itself to the intelligence and reason of the reading and thinking community, instead of indulging in the basest of appeals to the basest of men's passions; of which indulgence, too many of our public journals are guilty; thus catering to the depravity, ignorance and prejudice, instead of enlightening and elevating mankind, and thereby perverting, what should be the true object of public journalism. The vigorous manner in which it attacks, and denounces the pernicious doctrines, which, advocated by the democracy, led to rebellion, and which rebellion has virtually settled forever; but to which the blind democracy yet cling, like a drowning man to straws, feeling assured if they let go their present hold or position they sink to rise no more; causes it to meet with many a hearty welcome.

There is no doubt, that if the present fearless and vigorous course of the Republican be continued in the advocacy of the right; it must meet with unexampled success, and will do much to redeem once again old Centre from its present political thraldom, and the misrule of the Court House ring, who manipulate the democracy of the county, and especially that of Pennsvalley, for their own aggrandizement and the filling of their own coffers, at the people's expense. Prophesying for the Republican a grand success, and that ere long it will occupy an advanced position among its compeers of the State, we heartily extend to it the earnest friendship and support of this portion of the county and will with pleasure, occasionally communicate the state of our health in general, and especially the state of our political health which seems just now to be tolerably good. Yours &c.

Our Western Letter---No. 2.

GOSSIP FROM CHICAGO.

DEAR REPUBLICAN:—Why, no, the machine ain't broke; but there is so much friction in this "willage," that any kind of machine, not driven by steam is likely to run slowly—and I can't often get up steam enough to start the critter. Don't understand me that Chicago is a slow town—on the contrary it is somewhat fast. Fast men, fast women, fast "horses," in fact anything that is not fast had as well stand aside for things "go" with a looseness hereaways. I don't mean that our people are loose, nor on the other hand would I have you imagine that they are habitually tight. I have seen a few tight ones who doubtless felt pretty loose. If I mistake not I once saw one or more young gents from Bellefonte, who could not, in fairness, have been charged with being beastly sober!

Chicago people are noted, the world over, for their morality and strict honesty. In fact it is a general asylum for over-honest men. If you have any such in Bellefonte, just send them along thusward and I assure you they will find the latch string out and anxious friends awaiting them, ready to take them in. Plenty of men have been thus welcomed! I know of one confiding gentleman from the valley of Penn, just over the Nittany's mount, you know, who was *check*mated to amount of $500 or more. He innocently exchanged it for a check. The check turned out not to be "guilt edged," it seems. He says they Durst not do it again. Of course I will not mention names, and italics have no reference to allusion.

I know, too of an amorous old gray-beard, a regular Rip Vanwinkle, who having slumbered for three times twenty years among your mountains concluded to see something of the world. He came, he saw and was conquered. He made the acquaintance of a fair young damsel. He desired her to travel with him, and said "wilt thou," and she wilted. They travelled and thereby hangs a tale! When they went and what they did "twould never do to tell," at home. It may be said, however, that the gentleman of the fleecy locks was fleeced of all his money ere they parted. She had been there before!

Yes, Chicago is fast and is growing faster. I verily believe that if some of the slow ones I have seen in old Pennsylvania were to drop suddenly into some of our streets they would think the day of judgment at hand, or imagine that Stonewall Jackson, "mit his prass pand" was after the people

It is said that the first question propounded by Bostonians to visitors to the "hub" is "have you seen the organ?" On visiting Chicago the first question to the stranger is "have you seen the tunnel?" This refers to the great tunnel under the river. I heard an Indiana Hoosier say that on last Sunday he visited one of our fashionable churches. When the "sassy passer" came around Hoosier dropped in a dime. The large amount of the contribution attracted the attention of the money-getting brother who leaned over and whispered, "your'e a stranger ain't you?" "yes," answered our friend "Have you been through the tunnel?" Now this tunnel is no small affair; passing as it does under the busiest, dirtiest, most stinking river in the world. The entire length of the tunnel is 1,603 feet. There are two roadways for vehicles and one for foot-passengers. There should be one for velocipedes! The contract was awarded on July 19th, 1867, for sum of $328,500. This amount did not, however cover the cost of building. Only eighteen months from award of contract to completion of tunnel, it being opened January 1st 1869. No other city in the world would have accomplished such a herculean task in double the time—so say Chicagoans, and Chicagoans never boast you know. Indeed it is a well known fact that when among strangers they are very backward in speaking about their city and its merits!

While on the tunnel question I must not forget Chicago's greatest undertaking and most brilliant achievement—the lake tunnel; through which we are supplied with water from the depths of lake Michigan, the bottom of which is knocked out at a distance of two miles from shore. But I can't write you a description of this mammoth affair now. I may devote a letter to it some day next summer. You know it is so cooling to write about nice cool water, and "sich," in hot weather.

There is some enterprise in Chicago, real go-ahead-if-you-do-bust-upativeness Whew! About six genuine Chicago men with the capital that is rusting out in Bellefonte, and the natural advantages of the place would, in two years, make such a town as Pennsylvania does not contain. I doubt not you have some energetic men in your town who have public spirit—a good deal of it; but I know some, who, if they had no more money than they have public spirit and business energy, would be in the poor house to day; men who instead of being of any use to community are mere clogs, hindering those who would do good. They have laid up their treasure—not in Heaven—some where—tied up in a rag, or "salted" in a miserly stocking leg for anything I know. Now, stocking legs are good things—fair to look upon—when well filled with another kind of treasure—and rags are good enough in their place, but I don't like to see them used for the purpose of hiding capital which should be in use. Pull down your stocking legs—I mean those with the money in them, and expose your treasure—I mean the money, and things will look up, and something will be done.

There are just a few Bellefonte men in this neck-o-timber. Capt. J. G. McMeen is in the drug business here, at least he was last time I saw him—a few weeks since. He is the same pleasant, gentlemanly Joe, as of "ye olden time." And John Backstresser—who don't remember John—John of hardware fame? Have not met him lately but presume he is about—he generally is, you know—where there is fun—and there is fun here! And Tom Turner—you know Tom? I hope he will excuse my familiarity. Tom is a "fixture" in this section—a genuine out and out Chicago man, who believes Chicago is a head of the world. He is making his pile in Illinois coal lands, and Chicago real estate. Your Boalsburg friends will know who I mean when I say Will Reilley Well, Will is here, and there ain't a gayer chap in all the town.

Now, there! Oh, dear Republican have you a waste basket? If you haven't go out and get one, "to wunst;" for you can't run a printing office without one. You will have so many "original communications," so much "original poetry;" so many "lines for the Republican" and "sich like" that you will be obliged to insert many of them in the weekly edition of the waste basket—and that's just what you can do with this gossip, if you don't want to print it in your columns! I won't say I wrote it for the basket, but—I'll quit.

Your own
EM QUAD.

EDNESDAY MORNING, Feb. 17,'69.

Tim Bunker on Carding Cattle.

"Things look considerable grand round here," said Jake Frink, one morning, as he walked into my new barn, where I was cleaning off my black Hawk span, getting ready to take Mrs. Bunker down to Shadtown to spend Thanksgiving. You see, Sally and her husband have generally come home to spend this day, but just when there was a responsibility so young that the mother could not venture out.

"The Squire is gittin' so pertikelar with his cattle that he'll be movin' 'em all into the parlor pretty soon, I guess," responded George Washington Tucker.

"Many a poor fellow don't have such blankets as them hosses," said Seth Twiggs, as he scratched a match and lighted his pipe.

"Nor sich bedding," added Benjamin Franklin Jones, looking at the clean, bright straw.

"Planks, I see, are a little too hard for your animals to stand on," said Deacon Smith, inquiringly, as he poked away the straw and examined the bottom of the stall.

"There is three feet of dry muck in there," I replied, "and the pit is all cemented, so that I shan't lose any of the liquid manure. I calculate a horse will half pay for his keeping in the manure he makes, if you give him a chance."

"I'd chestnut for siding to the stall!" exclaimed Jotham Sparrowgrass, as he rubbed his hand over the surface. "I declare it looks about equal to the pews in the meetin' house."

"The Squire 'll be havin' a parson in here preachin' to his cattle, yet; see if he don't," added Jake Frink, maliciously.

"Mr. Spooner wo'd get some hearers here that he don't have on Sunday, I guess," said Seth Twiggs, meekly, with a puff of smoke that made Jake look blue.

"What new-fangled consarn is this you're cleanin' your critters with?" asked Uncle Jonathan, as he eyed a new India-rubber card that I was passing over the legs of the horses.

"What do you give your cows, that makes their coats shine so?" asked Deacon Smith, as he looked at a row of Jerseys on the other side of the barn floor.

"Oil-meal and carrots inside, and India-rubber card outside," I replied.

"You don't mean to say that you keerd 'em every day?" asked Jake Frink, whose tangled locks evidently have not been astonished by card or comb for many a day.

"Somebody attends to just this business every day, and I think it pays."

"Wall, Squire, you're a bigger fool than I thought you was. I've sometimes cleaned up a hoss when I had a trade ahead, but I never touched a keerd to a cow in all my life. 'Tain't natural sartain."

"Then," I asked, "what are the spines upon a cow's tongue made for, and why do they use them upon one another's hides so much?"

"They haint much else to du," said Jake, hesitatingly.

Now, I hold, Mr. Editor, that all our bovine animals carry a clean bill of rights to carding in their tongues, and the best card is the one that comes nearest to the original, which is moderately sharp, fine and flexible. Women's rights, about which folks are making such a fuss, don't begin to be so clear as this matter. I wish you would get up a revolution, and put on a strong editorial team to advocate the divine right of our domestic animals to be kept tolerably clean and comfortable. It would not pay, perhaps, to put them all into a warm bath every day, as Deacon Smith's Eliza serves her lapdog, but it will pay to use the card and brush every day.—They have an organization very like our own, and the skin is all the time throwing off dead matter, which lodges under the hair, unless some pains be taken to get rid of it. If left free, you will see them using their tongues upon every part of their body that is accessible, and getting help from their neighbors for those parts they cannot reach. They will rub their necks and backs against posts, and fences, and trees, to start this dead matter and clean their skins. In the summer they will wade into the streams, and stand for hours in the running water, to keep themselves clean as well as cool. There is no mistaking these acts. They show the instinct of cleanliness just as clearly as the comb, and brush, and wash-basin show it in man. Now, when we take these creatures into our care, and confine them in stalls and stables, we come under some obligation to treat them according to their natures. We have no right to torment them by withholding what they so strongly crave. They want food and drink, and the means of cleanliness and comfort, and they are generally profitable to us just as we provide liberally for their wants. To keep them in the filth in which many farmers compel them to wallow is as shocking and cruel as it is unprofitable. Just look at Jake Frink's stables. There is not a curry comb or brush in them, and has not been for a dozen years. He says he "never touched a keerd to his cows," but there is a card upon the buttocks of his oxen an inch thick, that certifies to Jake's nastiness, as if it were written in letters of ink. Is it any wonder that his neglected oxen get so weak that he has to hire his plowing done in the spring, and that his cows have the "slink fever," and his horse dreads the sight of crows? I wish he had your Mr. Burgh out here in the country. There is a great deal more need for a society to prevent cruelty to brutes than in the city. There are many more of the brutes, and the men who torment them with slow torture do not have all their neighbors looking at them, nor a policeman to step in and regulate their abuse. I hold that a man is demoralized by the abuse or neglect of his cattle. The farmer that will let his oxen lie in their own filth, from the beginning to the end of winter, without any effort to bed them or clean them, makes himself brutish, no matter how he stands in church or State. He can't fail to grow hard towards his fellows, as well as toward his cattle. But there is a right as well as a wrong way of keeping your cattle clean, as there is in doing other things. Some of the cards and curry-combs are fit only to scrape the hide of a rhinoceros. I have tried pretty much everything in the market and have come to the conclusion that there is as much difference in cards and curry-combs as in other things. Here is a card with the teeth set into the wood, as stiff as so many shingle nails. Put this into Patrick's hand, and upon the back of a thin-skinned and nervous horse, and it is a terrible instrument of torture.

No wonder he shrinks from Pat's approach, and learns to kick and bite. He is in a proper school to become vicious. Here is a curry-comb, cut out of a brass plate, with sharp saw teeth, and as unyielding as a saw. Think of such a tool going over bones not too thickly covered with flesh, and ripping up old sores! Is it at all strange that there is a chronic state of bad feeling between Pat and the poor brute, that is literally harrowed every day under the mistaken notion of cleaning?—The old fashioned wool card, with small brass teeth, inserted in leather, had some flexibility when carefully handled, answered a good purpose, but was rather too stiff. The card with an India-rubber back, fitted to the hand by a strap, is the latest and best invention in this line. It adapts itself perfectly under the hand, to all the little inequalities of the skin, and gives gentle friction without tearing. With a good brush, nothing better is needed. If the horses and cows could have a convention, I have no doubt they would pass a vote of thanks, or make the inventor a Justice of the Peace. It certainly promotes peace between man and beast, and makes the daily cleaning a luxury, instead of a torment. My animals come around me for their regular cleaning, with as much interest as they come for their fodder. They certainly understand the difference between hatchels and cards, between harrowing and cleaning. They thrive well under this treatment, and though it takes considerable time, I doubt if it could be spent more to their profit or mine.

Yours to Command,
TIMOTHY BUNKER, Esq.
Hookerstown, Dec., 15, 1868.

PRICE OF FARMING LANDS.—"J. K. S." "I notice that farms are sold in the Carolinas for five dollars an acre, and in Lancaster county, Pa., for two hundred and upwards. What makes the difference, and how can we make the cheap lands in this vicinity worth two hundred?"—Lands are worth, for cultivation, any sum that they will pay the interest on. The Carolina lands do not now pay the interest on five dollars, and the Lancaster county farms do pay the interest on $200 per acre. The difference is not altogether owing to quality of soil. Good neighborhood security for property, healthful climate, facility for getting manures and for marketing farm products, all affect the price of land. In the South, land is plenty, and the workers with capital few. In Pennsylvania, the workers are many, and they all want land. Of course, the price goes up. Bring in more workers who have capital, and improve your cultivation, and the price of land will increase. A very interesting problem for the farmer to solve is—how to make an acre of average land pay the interest on $200.

HOW TO START A FARMERS' CLUB.—"G. L. C.," Dennis, Mass.—"Can you tell us how to start and manage a Farmers' Club?"—This is one of the things that ought to go of itself in any farming community. Call a meeting without delay. It is not necessary to have constitution or any officers but a chairman, who may be provided for in alphabetical order of the names. Propose a subject, invite in the neighbors, and let each man have his five or ten minutes, talk upon it. It will be found very profitable to compare notes. If men from other callings will come in and give their outside views of farming operations, it will be all the better.—American Agriculturist.

BUCKWHEAT FOR MILCH COWS.—"M. W. P.," Canada. "What do you think of buckwheat for cows, and would you feed it dry, or wet it up with cut hay or straw?"—Buckwheat is excellent provender for all cattle and swine. It is more commonly ground up with corn and oats, and the meal fed in connection with cut hay or straw.—American Agriculturist.

PUNCH advises farmers to sow their P's, keep their U's warm, hive their B's, shoot their J's, feed their N's, look after their potSos I's, and we might add, they should C's every opportunity to improve, and then take their E's after work is over.

MISCELLANEOUS.

PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL
DAILY AND WEEKLY.
Now is the Time to Subscribe--Grant's Election a New Era.
Every Man Should Know What Is Going On.

The election of Grant marks an era in the history of the country. The future is full of promise. We stand on the threshhold of a period of remarkable interest. If the Presidential campaign awakened a desire for reading and intelligence, the election of Grant must create a wish among all classes to be well informed at every step in the career on which, as a people, we are about to enter. The people having elected a President by an unexampled majority, they will naturally wish to observe him at every step, know of every event as it happens, and have an intelligent understanding of men and things not only in our own country but throughout the world.
More than ever now a good newspaper becomes essential to every man, who wo'd keep himself informed concerning passing events. No man can pretend to know what life is, or keep up with even the most moderate competitor, without he is the constant reader of a good newspaper. A good newspaper is the best investment any man can make—a poor one the poorest. Although established but recently, comparatively,
THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL has won a place among the first journals of the country, and by common consent is the BEST PAPER IN PENNSYLNANIA.
We might give from our correspondence and the notices of the press in this and other States, columns of commendation—testimony sustaining the claim we have set up. The reason is evident. We GIVE ALL THE NEWS.
And the habitual reader of the COMMERCIAL will find himself well informed on all topics of general interest. Few papers in the country have so extensive a correspondence, none has so complete arrangements for gathering the news, and no other pays so much attention to adapting what it prints to the wants and associations of its readers. The COMMERCIAL is NOT MERELY A POLITICAL PAPER.
An advocate of the principles of the Republican party, it returns to political friend and foe a thousand times what he pays.
THE DAILY COMMERCIAL, ever since it was established, has been ahead in giving the latest, fullest and most reliable news. It is not too much to say—for it is a common remark—that locally it has caused a revolution in journalism, and it exerts an extended influence on the public mind. Not professing to be a party organ, and wishing not to be understood as the instrument of any ret, sect or combination, yet devoted to the great principles which have so signally triumphed in Grant's election, the COMMERCIAL aims to be an educator of the public mind, the medium through which it will find expression, and the advocate and friend of truth in all things. If it is the organ of anything, it is of PENNSYLVANIA INTERESTS,
more especially of the great industrial classes, with whom it is in the closest sympathy, and of whom it is a part. As a commercial paper, especially in its EXTENSIVE AND RELIABLE MARKET REPORTS,
the COMMERCIAL is recognized everywhere as authority, and it is daily read and relied on in Banks, Counting Rooms, by the Mechanic, Tradesman and Representative Man of every calling. In this respect we spare neither labor nor expense, and we take pride in believing that we have won a position which older papers have striven in vain to obtain. In a word if you desire the LATEST AND ALL THE NEWS; THE FULLEST AND MOST COMPLETE MARKET REPORTS; THE CHOICEST GENERAL READING AND LITERATURE, AND A COMPLETE NEWSPAPER IN EVERY RESPECT,
READ THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL,
There are thousands who cannot afford to take a daily paper and to whom a weekly is all-sufficient, provided it be a good one. To meet this want we publish
THE WEEKLY COMMERCIAL,
a very large sheet, each number containing an amount of reading equal to a dollar volume, prepared expressly for those who desire in one paper all the News, and Newspaper reading enough for a family. To this end we give the Weekly COMMERCIAL the particulars of leading events, whether of POLITICS, FINANCE, HOME OCCURRENCES or FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.
To render the Weekly COMMERCIAL of especial value to the rural portion of the population, we give extensively of AGRICULTURAL READING,
for which we have special arrangements; so that no number of the paper shall fail to give what to any man with an acre of ground will be worth many times the cost of a year's subscription. Besides this each number of the weekly is stored with
CHOICE FAMILY AND FIRESIDE READING,
Including entertaining sketches of Biography, Travel and Discovery, interspersed with Poetry, Stories and light reading. To this we add what has already caused the Weekly COMMERCIAL to be sought after very widely—a FULL WEEKLY REPORT OF ALL THE MARKETS OF PITTSBURG AND THE PRINCIPAL CITIES AT HOME AND ABROAD.
These reports occupying nearly an entire page, are to the buyer and seller of whatever our population makes, grows or trades in invaluable.
The COMMERCIAL is published Daily and Weekly at the following rates:
Daily Paper, one year.....$10 00
(Liberal terms to News Dealers.)
Weekly Paper, single copy one year.... $2 00
In Clubs of Twenty, and a copy free to the getter up..... $1 50
